

ABSTRACT

An optocoupler drive circuit for the high side of a totem pole power transistor pair in a bridge circuit for commutating a motor includes an optocoupler output device being directly connected to the upper power transistor in the totem pole, and series resistor of selected value 5 for controlling the drive current to said upper power transistor to reduce its speed of turn on.